

FROM THE RABBI'S STUDY: New Year, New Opportunities!

What a lovely second holiday season Sue and I experienced with you this year! It was full of so much sweet music, new and familiar faces and it felt so joyful! I am filled with gratitude for all of the people behind the scenes who made it flow so smoothly, the Acoustic Shabbat team which has now become Acoustic High Holidays, everyone who led children's services, Andi Duitch and Mike Kuperman for organizing honors and ushers, people who helped with security and kept me company on the bima, our wonderful daveners and Torah readers, the Board of Trustees and Foundation Board, and of course the irreplaceable and invaluable Manuel, Barb Berven and Kristin. Thank you too, to each of you, who brought your selves to services, to sing, think and listen: to the words of the services and the words of your heart. I hope we gave you many things to bring into this new year!

One of our innovations this year was to make the annual Welcome Book into a real calendar of events for the year. We hope you took one home, and that you'll come to synagogue for some old favorites, like Acoustic Shabbat and Children's services, and maybe you'll try out some new classes and other opportunities as well! In particular, I want to call your attention to a class we are trying out with the Temple called Chai Mitzvah which will meet once a month on the 4th Tuesday. We will alternate locations and teachers from each of the two synagogues. I'm teaching two of the classes, and they all look really engaging! It's a chance to learn from and with some different people, and think about Judaism from another perspective. We also will begin an Introduction to Judaism class on October 21, which will run through May. This class will be primarily taught by Christine Dietz and I will teach a few of the sessions too. Christine taught a similar class for several years at the synagogue she used to belong to in Maine. This class is geared towards everyone who wants to learn more about Judaism, and required for those who are considering conversion.

For our younger folk, we want to give you a chance to learn more about the diversity of Jewish summer camps! On October 13th, Herzl Camp will be visiting Tifereth for an evening of dinner, games, Havdalah and smores, and to talk about how awesome the camp is! Sue and I went to visit this summer and I am so excited to have them come and talk to families at Tifereth! It is a great place! For those of Kadima and USY age, look for programming geared to you developed by our new Kadima/USY advisor, Anna Zavell! She has so much great stuff planned, including a Kadima Escape Room and she'll be going with Kadima-niks to Ogden for Kadima Convention! Sign up, have fun, see your camp friends and make new ones!

We can't change the uncertainty and challenges that the world presents, but we can try to take advantage of and offer opportunities when we are able. I hope we see you soon, and you look for new ways to engage yourself in the tradition and the community!

TIKKUN OLAM ORGANIZATION HELPING AT THE U.S. BORDER

Repair the World works to inspire American Jews and their communities to give their time and effort to serve those in need. We aim to make service a defining part of American Jewish life.

Want to do more about what is happening at the U.S. Southern Border? Check out Jewish organization Repair the World's website. At Repair the World, we are deeply concerned about asylum seeking families being detained and separated at the border. The Torah speaks clearly and multiple times: "You should love the stranger because you were once strangers." The Torah shares this message 36 times; some interpret this repetition as double chai or two lives. This biblical directive to "love the stranger" is not only about loving and welcoming in the stranger; it is intertwined with saving the heart and soul of our own community. Here are national and local opportunities to take action through service. We encourage you to act now with one of these opportunities to serve.

Thomas Friedman's Challenge to Israel Philanthropy; Masorti is the Answer

Sep 23, 2018 | Masorti Matters Blog

Nearly every week a new story appears in the Israeli or American press that highlights the distress and disillusionment of mainstream American Jewish leaders, philanthropists and intellectuals with certain aspects of Israeli government policy.

The latest is New York Times Columnist Thomas Friedman, who was interviewed by the prominent Israeli National Religious weekly Makor Rishon. Friedman declared that he:

"... wanted Conservative and Reform rabbis to be officially recognized by the state, so that "their weddings and conversion be recognized..."I think the Kotel settlement should have been respected. You can't tell American Jews: We want you to come to Israel, but your form of Jewish-religious expression is unacceptable to us." Quoted from a story in Haaretz, see link.- <https://www.haaretz.com/israel-news/there-s-a-crisis-between-israel-and-u-s-jewry-says-jewish-american-journalist-thomas-friedman-1.6492435>

Friedman's statements echo some of themes from mega-philanthropist Ronald Lauder's earlier op-ed in The New York Times. The Friedman interview is particularly significant because of his prominence as an opinion-leader on Israel, the passion of his statements, the predominantly Orthodox audience of Makor Rishon and the link in the story to a move by some synagogues away from Israel Bonds. Friedman underscored that he and his congregation would find alternative ways to support Israel, but were not comfortable operating through a government that he believes disrespects their Judaism.

The Masorti Foundation, and the Masorti Movement in Israel, continue to associate with Israel Bonds and at times receive Bonds when congregants choose to pass them along to Masorti as gifts. However, Friedman's story highlights a roiling debate as some congregations follow his approach, while others that continue in the program have chosen to focus their Bonds work on support for Masorti, or have included direct giving to Masorti as an option.

The Masorti Foundation sees the religious services, Knesset advocacy, community-building and educational work of our partners in the Israeli Masorti Movement as a powerful expression of our core Jewish values – unity, pluralism, egalitarian practice, Jewish tradition and Zionism. Fighting for these values is an investment in Israel's future as a democratic and Jewish state, as envisioned in its Declaration of Independence, and a firm basis for Israel-Diaspora relations. And whether one follows Friedman away from traditional philanthropic tools like Israel Bonds, or seeks to re-frame them, Masorti, here and in Israel, are struggling for a respectful, values-based, 21st century relationship between Israel and Diaspora Jewry. We look forward to working with all in the community to find compelling ways to support this essential work.

November 15th, 6:00–7:00pm & November 29th, 6:30-7:30pm

Four one-hour discussions will center on a review of the life and influence of the Rambam – Rabbi Moses ben Maimon – Maimonides. From his writings we will review Maimonides’ thoughts on the basic principles of Jewish faith and his universal outlook on the nature of human perfection.

CHAVRUTA PROGRAM

Introducing: Tifereth Israel Synagogue's new Chavruta program! Chavruta, the Hebrew word for "friendship," is a traditional style of Jewish learning that puts the student first. Two students sit together to study a text - anything from Midrash to Movies- and analyze it as a team. Discussing new ideas helps both partners better understand what they think about the text. Chavruta also offers the opportunity to engage with the Tifereth community and Jewish learning on YOUR schedule. Chavruta is open to all who want to participate in Jewish learning. No experience required. Fill out the interest form to get started. A member of the Adult Education committee will contact you with more information and introduce you to your new chavruta partner. <https://goo.gl/forms/wmL0KfNdZzkiWDpG3>

We will be present to both our similarities and our differences, and support each other in discovering each person’s unique contribution to tikkun olam, repair of the world.

ADULT EDUCATION

NEW* ADULT ED CLASS IN COLLABORATION WITH THE TEMPLE

A Personal Journey to Share with Friends A collaborative project of TIS and TBJ
Chai Mitzvah combines study, ritual and social action, providing the framework for a meaningful Jewish journey.

Shalom! Being Jewish means you learn and do, all your life. Our tradition teaches us the world stands on Torah, Avodah, and Gmitut Chasadim - learning, spirituality and social action. That is, head, heart and hand.

We point our children's learning toward that moment when they become full members of our community, when they become Bar or Bat Mitzvah. What about after that? How do we develop, re-define our Jewish lives? The Adult Education committees of Tifereth Israel and B'nai Jeshurun have decided to launch an innovative initiative for adults, Chai Mitzvah.

Chai Mitzvah has five basic components in a twelve-month program:

- Group study - meeting monthly on a set curriculum
- Independent study - something you would like to learn more about in Jewish life, history, literature, culture, etc. Design your own independent study
- Ritual - choosing a ritual or spiritual practice to incorporate into your life
- Social Action - choosing either individually, or as a group to commit to a local volunteer opportunity
- Celebrate! At the end of the twelve months, acknowledge the journey with some kind of celebration. Participants who finish the program receive a certificate from Chai Mitzvah, and a tree planted in their honor courtesy of Jewish National Fund's collaboration with Chai Mitzvah.

Chai Mitzvah will meet on the fourth Tuesday of the month at 6:30 PM beginning October 23rd. Please note, December's meeting will be Tuesday the 18th. See over for the schedule and topics. The cost for the program and materials is $36. Please sign up by calling (515-255-1137) or emailing (office@tifereth.org) the office by October 2 nd to allow time for us to order course materials. We will notify you when the materials are in. Important Notice

The Tifereth Bulletin will be available primarily online instead of through the mail. A link to each month's online copy will be emailed to you instead of a paper copy being mailed to you.

Paper copies will only be provided upon request. If you wish to continue having paper copies mailed to you, you must contact the office. Converting to online distribution will save costs on mailing, paper, ink and assembly time. Thank you for your understanding.
